

THE SWISS ETHICAL PRIZE IN A FEW WORDS

The Swiss Ethics Prize aims to:

- Promote an ethical and sustainable economy
- Contribute to the diffusion of good practices within Swiss public, private companies and public and private organizations in these two areas
- To educate and raise awareness among students of the HEIG-VD to the importance of ethics and sustainability in the economy

The Prize rewards:

- Innovative projects implemented by companies and organizations in the field of ethics and sustainability
- Companies and organizations from all sectors that have integrated ethical and sustainability considerations into their strategy

An initiative of the HEIG-VD :

- The Prize is organized each year by students
- The award ceremony is an annual and festive event
- The courses taught are in the field of sustainable development and business ethics

An event that allows exchanges between :

- Jury members: seven experts in the field of ethics
- Companies and organizations participating in the Prize
- The media and the general public
- Students of the HEIG-VD
- The teachers and staff of the HEIG-VD